

	2012-2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020
Temporary housing	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Removal of residue materials •Support fatigue • Loss of sense of independence •Dependence on aid • Improvement of sense of community •Improvement of the community function of watching out for each other 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unease accompanying move • sense of being left behind • decline in mental & physical functions • decline in autonomous functions 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Consolidation of temporary housing •temporary housing facilities that are sparsely inhabited •causing loneliness •safety/ crime prevention
Public housing for disaster recovery		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unease with new home (particularly about dealing with new human relations, as well as insufficient local information and support) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Feeling trapped, Isolation (particularly in high-rise housing complexes) • Communication and/or relationship breakdown • Launching self-governing organizations 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Seclusion • dying alone • Relations with surrounding communities • Isolation from community organizations • Activation of autonomous functions 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Aging population • Increase in number of people living alone • Increase in number of households facing complex problems • Increase in number of people needing support • Decline in autonomous functions
The community on the whole	temporary housing and frictions and divisions in community	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unease accompanying taking in the new members of the community • Gaps in awareness, feelings of opposition to intake 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Pubic housings for disaster recovery and frictions and divisions in community •Aging population, increase of people living alone, Isolation 					